ADVANCED

These unique constructions for cotton knitwear combined with enhanced technology create the ultimate performance knit. Cotton performance technologies can be added to the garment or to the yarn in specific zones to create the perfect knit for even the toughest challenges.

Water REPELLENT

STORM COTTON™ technology repels water with the breathability of cotton. This functional knit looks and performs so good, you won't want to save it for a rainy day.

PERFORMANCE

Moisture MANAGEMENT

Perfect for workouts inside and out. TransDRY® and WICKING WINDOWS™ technologies wick moisture away from the skin keeping you cool, dry and comfortable.

FULL FASHION

KNITTING

Stoll America's flat bed knitting machines produce fully fashioned garment pieces using inverse plaiting techniques. The garment shape is achieved on the knitting machine as each piece is knitted with no raw edges. Pieces are sewn using linking or cup seaming to create a comfortable knit for active lifestyles.

Fully fashioned jacket pieces assembled by linking.

Mercerized cotton and nylon yarns create high power stretch and sheen.

SEAMLESS GARMENT

Using a unique circular knit machine, seamless garment technology is available for cotton. The technology produces the entire garment on the machine with no assembly or linking required. The elimination of seams reduces chafing, improves range of motion and allows the cotton fabric to conform to the shape of the body. Seamless technology also offers unique design capabilities to incorporate performance features like moisture wicking yarns and ventilation through construction.

Unique construction to improve ventilation.

TransDRY® technology provides moisture wicking performance.
